137 PSALM 137

DUNLAPS CREEK. C.M.

4. [6]Let my tongue cleave to my mouth's roof
If you I should forget,
And if above my chiefest joy
I Salem do not set.

5. [7]Remember Edom's sons, O LORD,
How in Jerus'lem's day
They cried, "Tear down! Tear down its walls!
Its base in ruins lay!"

6. [8]O Babel's daughter, near your doom,
O happy count that one
Who shall deal back to you again
As you to us have done!

7. [9]Yes, happy count that one who adds
To your destruction's shock,
Who takes and breaks your little ones
Against the mighty rock.
